A step back into the past! Don Crowe, owner of the Kawartha Dairy and What's the Scoop? took a ride through town with Casey Cox, owner of the horses, as they tested out the Dairy's new milk wagon. The wagon was built by craftsman Merv Bunker and will be used in parades and shows throughout the area.

Stanhope sets out plans for infrastructure bucks

by Jerry Grozelle

Stanhope Township Council has set a list of nine priorities for its share of the County's Infrastructure grant money.

Road work eats up the lion's share of the Township's wish list with seven of the nine items on the list.

Construction on the Big Hawk Road, at a cost of almost $192,700 is at the top of the list.

The number two priority is the eastern section of the North Shore Road at $62,755.

Combined renovations and additions to the Community Hall and the Fire Hall rank third. Included in the proposed $164,000 renovations are a new kitchen in the Community Hall and a hose drying room at the Fire Hall, as well as other renovations.

The only other departure from road repairs is the number four priority, an addition to the hangar at the Stanhope Airport. Estimated cost of that project is $70,000.

Although it would be the most expensive project of the nine, at more than $270,000, repairs to North Shore Road West are ranked at number five.

Sixth, with a price tag of $43,165, is Green Lake Road work.

Oliver Crescent repairs, at $76,537, placed seventh in the priority

$47,374 worth of repairs to Highland Road came in at eighth and at the bottom of the list is $50,942 worth of work on Boshkung Road.

Stanhope's original allotment of infrastructure funds was $471,000. The total of the nine projects, if they are approved, is more than $734,500. Township officials are hoping to take advantage of any funds made available if other municipalities in the county decline to use their allotments. Some townships have indicated that they won't be using at least a portion of what is available to them.

If any municipalities don't take advantage of the funding, the excess money will be put into a pool from which others may draw. If all the money still isn't all claimed, it will go into a general pool, from which any municipality may draw.

With its reserves and the sale of two township lots, Stanhope would have to finance $156,000 of its share over the next four years.

Stanhope Reeve Fred Gardner sees the infrastructure funds as a two-fold benefit. Firstly, there is the opportunity to improve the Township, with the provincial and federal governments picking up two-thirds of the tab. And secondly, it will serve to help jumpstart the local economy.

65 set the pace in HAVE walk

The 11th annual HAVE (Help A Village Effort) Walk For Water saw about 65 walkers of all ages raise about $8,000 in pledges. But Eric Lilius, one of the event's organizers, said that when the final totals are in, the amount is expected to increase to about $10,000.

"Traditionally, when it's all collected, we usually get more than what has been pledged," he said.

People from across the county and beyond, take part in the event. One couple from Lindsay, Ish and Veena Lal, are regular walkers at this event. This year they had $3,000 in pledges.

Another regular participant who usually brings in more than $1,000 annually is Carnarvon area octogenarian Norm Walker.

The money collected from this event is used to help provide fresh water for villages in India and Africa.

"All the money goes to water

$1.8 million approved for schools

Two more Highlands schools may see expansions, thanks to provincial funding approval for $1.82 million through the JobsOntario program.

The Haliburton Highlands Board of Education applied for a grant to expand J.D. Hodgson Elementary School and to build a new gymnasium at the high school. The estimated cost of these projects is $3.65 million, half of which will have to be raised locally if the projects are to proceed.

Contacted Friday, Education Director Brad Saunders said he knew an announcement from the province was coming. However, he did not expect approval for both projects. "Even in my wildest dreams I expected funding for just one project." He said this is an excellent chance for the board to consider.

On the flip side of the coin, though, Saunders said trustees will have to consider whether the board can afford to pay the local share of these projects. "It's a significant local contribution. Can we afford it?" This is the question with which trustees will have to wrestle when they meet again later this month.

"I'm ecstatic that we at least have the opportunity to consider this" said Saunders.

The addition to the elementary school has been on the table for several years. The board had planned to expand the school to accommodate all the students from the aging Victoria Street School.

The funding approval is for six additional classrooms at J.D. Hodgson. In addition, the board had received previous approval for a two-room expansion to accommodate Junior Kindergarten. The board put that project on hold until it received word on the larger expansion. If these projects go ahead, eight new classrooms will be created at the school.

At the high school, the plan is to build a full-sized gymnasium. The student population at the school is growing rapidly and will soon reach the 800 mark.

"By contemporary standards, the gym is totally inadequate," said Saunders. He said it is already too small to accommodate all the physical education classes. Further, the gym is smaller than regulation size, which puts a damper on the introduction of competitive basketball.

Although the board had also asked for funding for additional classroom space at the high school, the application was modified to exclude this request. However, the funding approval does include some renovations, including improvements to the cafeteria and shops.

Considering that the school is entering into a new broad-based technology program, the improvements to the shops would be a welcome addition, said Saunders. The cafeteria is also currently far too small for the student population.

Araquel wins Chamber logo contest

The new logo shouts the theme "Haliburton, It's Closer Than You Think."

Chamber President Brian Dean said that a comment often heard from visitors to the area was that the Highlands wasn't as far from their homes as they thought it would be. So, the decision was made to capitalize on the theme.

Araquel is a relative newcomer to the Haliburton area, having moved his family from Brantford about 16 months ago. He has his studio set up at his home on Highway 121 just north of the PineStone Inn.

His art experience is extensive and varied, both in commercial and fine art.

He has done everything from sign painting to portraits of company presidents.

Shortly after Wayne Gretsky signed on with the Edmonton Oilers, Araquel was commissioned to paint a portrait of the young superstar in his Oilers uniform. A copy of the original, bearing Gretsky's hand-written note of appreciation sits on a desk in Araquel's studio.

Before coming to Haliburton in February of 1993, Araquel was acting manager of print services for TwinPak Inc. (formerly Consolidated Bathurst Packaging Ltd.) in Brantford. Prior to that, he was the art supervisor for the company for 13 years.

For eight years before he started at Consolidated Bathurst, Araquel had an art and sign painting studio in Brantford. During that time, he devised a system of lettering uneven surfaces, which has been adopted by most sign companies in Canada.

Araquel was born in the Philip-pires. He worked as a sign painter, theatrical painter and as an advertising and display artist for Eastman Kodak in Manila before coming to Canada in 1965.

Besides his commercial art experience, Araquel has an impressive list of credits in fine art, participating in Canadian and U.S. exhibitions dating back to 1967.

One of his first North American awards was the Annual Art Competition of the Art Instruction Schools in Minneapolis, Minnesota. He studied at the school and one of his paintings was chosen for the school's permanent collection.

Araquel has not only studied with some of America's foremost portrait painters, he has conducted classes and workshops himself.

The accolades continue to accumulate for Araquel. Having his design chosen to promote the Haliburton Highlands is just the latest of a long list.

Kirkwoods get royal treatment at achievement awards reception

Richard Kirkwood was on stage at Queen's Park last week along with Lieutenant Governor Hal Jackman, Premier Bob Rae, Culture and Citizenship Minister Elaine Ziemba and 19 other outstanding seniors.

Kirkwood was one of 20 people from across the province to receive an 1994 Ontario Senior Achievement Award. He was chosen from among 400 nominees.

Kirkwood, who was nominated for this award by the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden, made the trip with his wife, Laura, and Bern and Doreen Berry. The group left Tuesday morning and made one stop for a luncheon buffet at the Town and Country Inn. They checked in at the Chelsea Inn at about 3 p.m. and rested up for their 4:30 p.m. engagement.

Throughout their time at Queen's Park, they were provided with an aide to show them around and answer questions. Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson took time out from his schedule to greet the Kirkwoods. He also arranged seats for them in the visitors section of Parliament so they could watch a government debate.

"It was quite a day for him," Doreen Berry said. In addition

Bern and Doreen Berry accompanied Dick and Laura Kirkwood to the Seniors Achieve Awards reception at Queen's Park. Culture Minister Elaine Ziemba was one of the many dignitaries to greet the Minden delegation meeting the Premier, the culture minister and the Lieutenant Governor, Kirkwood was interviewed by various newspapers and television news stations. Watching Parliament in action was a highlight for the Kirkwoods, said Berry. "They were in their glory there."

The award recognizes decades of work and community spirit. In particular, it is a reward for his efforts on behalf of the Minden County Town Museum Committee, a group which has made tremendous progress in the development of a heritage village.

Kirkwood said the significance of the award didn't really sink in until he realized how many others had been nominated. Only 20 people out of 400 nominees were chosen, and to have one of those come from a small town like Minden is a indication of the degree of commitment Kirkwood has demonstrated throughout the years.

Snowdon man convicted on 7 assault charges

A 63-year-old Snowdon Township man has been convicted of seven counts of sexual assault involving minors.

Norman Birchmore, who lives on the Valley Road, was in court in Lindsay last Thursday and Friday to face eight charges in relation to assaults which took place between 1987 and 1992. One charge was dismissed and Birchmore was found guilty of the remaining seven. Birchmore has been remanded out of custody until sentencing on September 6.

Haliburton Home Show features many exhibitors

The good weather was probably the main factor for such a low attendance at the 16th annual Home and Vacation show in Haliburton June 3-5.

The show, held at the Dysart arena and the Haliburton Curling Club, held more than 95 exhibitors from Kinmount to Stanhope areas, who were well prepared to sell their materials.

Admission was free and visitors were able to speak to representatives from furniture outlets, marinas, and building companies who were on hand to demonstrate and explain their products and services.

Taking the cue from previous years, the show held special activities. Visitors were entertained with a fashion show, stuffed to the brim with hotdogs and hamburgers, and crossed their fingers as they entered contests to win Blue Jays tickets or a motor boat.

Brighter Futures ready and rarin' to go

VROOM! Nancy Adamson, Sue Shikaze Rosemarie Jung, Julie Pearson, Linda Mintz, and Lisa Heels, organizers from the Mobile Family Outreach Program, show off their new company van.

The County of Haliburton Association for Child Enrichment has a new government initiated program to help parents and children who have special needs. Whether it be a child needing someone to talk to, or to play with, the new Brighter Futures Program is there to help.

The new program has employed five people and has divided them into three separate groups dealing with families who need help.

Rosemarie Jung, supervisor of the Mobile Family Outreach Program, has been waiting anxiously to get the program underway. "We want people to know what this program is all about," said Jung.

MFOP is designed to go out into different communities and meet families at a location such as a church or community centre and talk about problems concerning parenting at home. The three workers of MFOP are linked with a Parent Support Worker and a Group Facilitator member.

The Parent Support Worker visits homes of families who request help. The group facilitator organizes activities for both parents and children.

Currently MFOP is connected with the library in Highland Grove. Starting soon, the staff of MFOP will travel to the library and talk with families twice a month.

"There are a lot of people in-involved and the community is so supportive. We need to go out to different places because of isolation created by distance in the county. Not everybody can travel (to Haliburton) for a meeting. We're keen on setting up car-pooling and creating other linkages," said Jung.

Thanks to funding of the Community Action Program for Children, Health and Welfare Canada, in agreement with the province of Ontario, and through the sponsorship of SIRCH, MFOP can travel to different communities in the Highlands, bringing toys, games, educational videos and other items in their new van.

"We provide support long after the funeral."

A discussion on the importance of aftercare.

"I sometimes think our most important efforts come in our contact with families after the funeral.

"Funeral services meet an immediate need. But after the funeral, families often find themselves searching for explanations, solutions, and guidance.

"We are here to help you cope with your grief. To give the direction needed to take those first steps in putting the pieces of your life back together."

Foot power helps provide wells projects," Lilius explained.

Communal wells are drilled and pumps are installed in villages where people often have to travel for miles to get water.

"Almost all of the wells that have been drilled over the years are still in operation," Lilius said.

Lilius points out that something as basic as fresh water in a village can have a drastic effect on the social structure of a village. In most of these places, providing water is women's work. They often have to carry water for miles, taking up much of their time. With water close at hand, these women have more time for other activities which raise their income, which raises the family's standard of living.

Every dollar raised locally is matched three to one by the Canadian International Development Agency. If the final total for the local event is in the $10,000 range, that translates to $40,000 to be used for water projects.

"We're very grateful for all the volunteer help," Lilius said.

Counting the people who manned check points, musicians who entertained and others who helped to make it so successful, Lilius estimates there were 30 to 40 volunteers who contributed their time and energy to the project.

Members of the Haliburton Legion Branch 129 Pipes and Drums led the procession out of Head Lake Park in Haliburton, the starting point of the walk. The 16 kilometre route went part way around Kashagawigamog Lake, with a boat ride across the lake at the half way mark.

Local merchants got into the act, donating hot dogs, cookies and soft drinks for the walkers.

The Minden Amateur Radio Club provided mobile communications for the day.

"They've been with us for years," Lilius said. "They really help out."

The villages where the wells are constructed are required to make a commitment to maintain the wells once they are operational. There is an education process that goes along with the each well project. The sites are monitored to ensure that the water supply remains clean and contaminants are kept away from the water supplies. There also have to be assurance that the water will be available to everybody in the community.

Lilius said that the HAVE Walk for Water people have a strong trusting relationship with their partners in India and Africa.

It seems to have really panned out well," he said.

Board wary of anti-racism policy

The Haliburton County Board of Education is struggling to create an anti-racism policy, but some trustees are concerned that it may create more problems than it solves.

Once a policy is adopted, the board is bound to its contents. Trustee Cheryl Murdoch said the board should be very careful in its wording, to avoid the creation of new expenses and demands on the limited manpower.

"When you write a policy, you must follow that policy to the letter," said Murdoch. "We only have so much manpower. We have to write a policy that we can deal with."

School boards across Ontario have been instructed to have an anti-racism policy in place within a few months. To this end, the Haliburton board has struck a sub-committee to lead the project.

Rosie Kenny was on hand at last Tuesday's Education Committee meeting to present a draft policy and to bring the trustees up to date on the progress.

Kenny said she has attended seminars put on by the Ministry of Education, which helped her understand why this policy is needed. Prior to the seminars, Kenny said, she sensed this initiative was designed primarily to ease racial problems in Toronto. However, she now believes that racism is present in communities of all sizes.

Haliburton County is unique in that it has few visible minorities, said Kenny. However, this does not mean that racism is not present. If people look closely, they are likely to see forms of favouritism and racism in hiring practices, curriculum, among the staff and among the students.

Kenny said she knows of one parent who asked if her child could be dismissed to celebrate a Jewish holiday. The parent was told the absence would not be a good idea. "That's like telling kids they have to be in school at Christmas," she said.

Another example she cited was the view commonly taken of native artwork. "Do we look at native art as folk art, or is it like Picasso?"

Still, some trustees were not convinced. "In general, I don't see it in Haliburton," said Nancy Stinson. She said she is afraid that developing a policy might serve to stir up feelings.

Regardless of what trustees feel, the board has no choice but to create a policy. "The real point," said Brian Kernohan, "is how do we write one that fits this board and will be accepted by the ministry."

The ministry has established some guidelines to lead boards through the process. One of those guidelines, however, will be difficult to achieve in Haliburton.

According to the ministry, the board is supposed to seek participation from minority groups. Since there are few if any minority groups in this county, it will be difficult to abide by that requirement.

"How do we do that," asked Kenny. When she called the ministry for guidance, she said she was told to invite groups from outside the county to participate. She said this is not a very good alternative.

Dale Robinson, superintendent of schools, suggested that ministry staff be invited to meet with the board and address some of these concerns. He said it would be helpful if ministry staff had a better understanding of the nature of this county. It would also help the board get a better understanding of what will or will not be accepted by the ministry.

"The policy needs the ministry's stamp of approval," said Robinson. "It's important to know what they want before we start."

Volunteers railroaded into ambitious project

A model railroad club has now been formed as part of the Kinmount Pioneer Society.

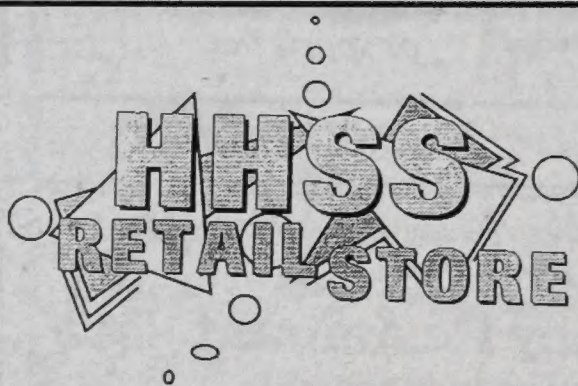

The Kinmount Railroad Club's mandate is to design and construct a model railroad depicting Kinmount to Haliburton, circa 1900 to 1925. The model is to be on display at the Pioneer Society's Exhibit during the Kinmount Fair on Labour Day weekend. The goal is to complete the section from Kinmount to Gelert this year and the remainder in 1995.

Kinmount Lions have taken on sponsorship of the model and are now in the process of launching a fund-raising project to cover costs. The club is planning to sell sponsor plaques at $25 each. The Kinmount Fair Board has already started the ball rolling purchasing the first plaque.

For further information or to become a sponsor, contact Bob Mitchell (488-2057) or Guy Scott (488-2211) or Don Haines (488-2211).

The HHSS RETAIL STORE opening in September/94 invites tenders on a product list that can be obtained at HHSS main office.

Areas of product line include:

- personal products

Brigadoon casting announced

The audition process is complete. Now it's just a matter of learning the music, the dance steps and the lines.

The cast for the Highlands Little Theatre production of Brigadoon was selected following try-outs held on the May holiday weekend. Aspiring actors from throughout the county nervously show-cased their talents before a panel of producers and directors at the United Church in Haliburton.

Following the auditions, and lengthy deliberations, the following cast members were chosen: John Miller as Tommy; Cathy Cox-Fiona; Tom

All but one of the roles has been cast. The director, Curtis Eastmure, is still searching for an older male for the part of Archie Beeton. The role requires singing and some dialogue.

Also required are individuals to assist with support tasks backstage. Anyone interested in helping out should contact the producer, Craig Saunders at 457-9125.

Rehearsals for the musical will begin in September, and while it may appear the cast members have the summer off, many of the actors, especially the leads, will be pouring over the scripts and music during the next few months.

Reserve tickets for the five performances, which will take place November 18, 19, 20 (matinee), 25 and 26, are now on sale from the producer.

Character building

Everything old is new again.

No, we're not talking about the marvelous facelift Minden's business core has undergone in recent months. Instead, we're talking about the new old-time character that is gradually surfacing as Minden's personality.

The charm and history of our past is re-emerging in many aspects of life throughout the area, and it's heartening to see the village developing a warm character that is uniquely Minden.

It was like a jump back in time, Wednesday, when we heard the clatter of horses pulling the new (old?) Kawartha Dairies wagon through the village. The finely-crafted wagon is primarily for shows and parades, but it's tempting to think that some day we might see this spectacle on a more regular basis.

Another recent example of historical restoration is the relocation of the Hindon Hill School House, to the County Town Museum site. This unique structure will add immensely to the budding heritage village that has been sprouting up over the past 10 years.

And then there are the events which bring back a sense of the past. The Canada Day celebrations and Winter Carnival are stellar examples of the community gatherings enjoyed by our forefathers. The Timbersport Festival is, to a degree, a re-enactment of the light-hearted competitions that surely existed during the county's lumbering era.

Most importantly, the community involvement and the willingness of volunteers — key elements in all these events — are solid reminders of the spirit that built this community.

Warmth and courtesy at Extendicare

Editor:

Recently I had the opportunity to spend a couple of full days and evenings at the Haliburton Extendicare facility.

My friend Ann Barker's, mother was failing rapidly and I went to keep Ann company during her final bedside vigil.

Why I am writing, is to express my impressions of the staff and facilities at the home. Often we have preconceived ideas of what we think places like this are like. In our ignorance and inexperience in dealing with these facilities we often frown upon and voice strong opinions often without having been inside a facility like this.

I was genuinely impressed by the general open warmth and friendliness of the staff which was extended to Ann and myself and to all the residents present.

There is a special breed of person that can work in a facility such as this and the staff that I had the privilege of meeting during this extended visit truly had God's special gifts of patience, warmth, compassion, humour, and endless energy. The staff never stopped, and if you saw someone standing and talking it was only to give more of themselves in offering reassurance, encouragement, understanding and comfort to distressed family members or residents.

Even the night shift wasn't quiet or calm as the staff are constantly answering call-bells, changing endless beds and persons, reassuring restless souls about their upcoming trips to doctors for tests, finding the right room for some wanderer and so on, all night through.

My thanks the staff for the generous and endless considerations given to me, to Ann and to her mother during her time with you, and especially during her final hours. You made a very hard, emotionally and physically stressful and sad time become a time of peace and warmth; a time to remember happier times with the resident, as you reminisced about events shared with her. This made the acceptance of what was happening so much easier for all to bear.

The meals you so generously gave to us while we were there were delicious and it's nice to know the residents have good, tasty food to eat.

Ann's mother has gone now, bless her, but also are my preconceived ideas of what this facility could have been like and I feel the definite necessity to have places like this to send our needing family members to where they can receive proper care and consideration of their special needs when the time comes that we or they themselves cannot properly care for themselves.

Snowdon Reeve defends recent tax hike

Editor,

As Reeve of Snowdon Township, I have to respond and defend Snowdon Township Council. An editor usually bases his opinion on facts and to campaign on false facts needs an apology.

Fact No. 1 - Snowdon Township does have reserves. The operating reserve is over $70,000 and is used to offset borrowing for the education and county levies until the taxes are paid by its residents. We also have a recreation reserve. The computers were purchased out of the land tax sales and did not affect the taxpayer.

Fact No. 2 - Cutbacks in landfill service. The fact is that Snowdon Council has implemented development plans for both the Lochlin and Irondale landfill sites and we diverted monies to upgrade to MOE standards and testing. We can extend the life span of the Lochlin site to 15 years and the Irondale site to over 100 years. If depriving one day a week now, preserves a landfill site for the next generation with little cost, then council deserves a pat on the back and not ridicule.

Fact No. 3 - No infrastructure funding. Because of the reduction in transfer payments of $2,500 to the roads budget and Snowdon's maintenance per kilometre is the lowest in Haliburton County. The need to live within your means was the theme of council. To wish our plan to go forward and try and maintain the services or take our reserves and raise taxes to obtain the infrastructure money was not viable at this time.

Fact No. 4 - A tax increase of 12 per cent. Council had public meetings on fire protection to address the 10 per cent increase. The people were willing to pay the increase. Twelve per cent of what? A one per cent increase in Snowdon Township's budget is $1,600. A one per cent increase in the county's budget is $25,000 and a one per cent increase in the education budget it over $600,000.

Council wrestled with the overall increase of 9.5 per cent which is approximately $100 on the average dwelling. Where the concern hits Snowdon Township is the single senior who is on a set income, trying to support a home when the senior tax rebate was discontinued and the increase in hydro was added.

We need to adapt to the downloading from the province which has been a challenge for this council and as

Reeve of Snowdon Township, I am proud of the employees who's increase in workload, cost efficiencies and loyalty, that can't be measured, help this council serve you better with less.

Tough love has a whole new meaning in Singapore

Punishment is a sort of medicine

Aristotle

Thinking of visiting Singapore some day? Maybe taking the kids along? Here's a couple of no-no's you might want to bring to their attention before you take them off for a day's sightseeing.

Do not drop litter.

Do not feed the pigeons.

Do not spit on the sidewalk.

Do not eat while driving.

Do not pick the flowers.

Do not chew gum.

And lest your kids think these are just wishful guidelines like the DON'T WALK signs at Canadian stoplights, you might want to tell them that the fine for, say, chewing gum or feeding pigeons in Singapore is a flat $1,000. No court-appointed lawyer. No case worker or appeals. Just a thousand bucks — pay up or go to jail.

And you REALLY don't want to go to jail in Singapore.

Well, what do you expect? Singapore is not an advanced sophisticated nation like Canada. It's a tight-sphinctered police state of two million souls crammed onto an island not much bigger than some Saskatchewan wheat farms and surrounded by potentially hostile neighbours.

That makes for a nervous government. Nervous about a lot of things. Drugs for instance. A few years ago heroin started to show up in Singapore. The government came up with a very simple solution: billboards. Billboards all over Singapore. You can see them when you get off the plane. The billboards say simply: WARNING: DEATH FOR DRUG DEALERS UNDER SINGAPORE LAW.

They mean it too. Get

by Arthur Black

caught dealing dope in Singapore and all the Melvin Belli's and Eddie Greenspans in the world will not come between you and your date with the hangman.

And don't expect special attention just because you carry a passport identifying you as a privileged citizen of a progressive Western country. Michael Fay found that out last month. Fay is the American kid who went on a rampage in downtown Singapore spray-painting parked cars and slinging eggs and bricks around. The Singapore courts sentenced him to five lashes.

Which, in Singapore, is more than enough. They use a rattan cane on the bare buttocks, wielded by a martial arts expert. Lashees usually lose consciousness after the first couple of strokes.

Predictably, many Americans objected to the harsh penalty. Boys will be boys, they said. Even President Clinton suggested that the punishment was out of proportion to the crime.

Singapore went ahead and lashed.

Barbaric? Some folks think so. On the other hand, political corruption is virtually unheard of in Singapore. The streets are spotless and utterly safe to walk on at any hour (unless Michael Fay's about). There are no slums and the people of Singapore enjoy a health care system that would bring tears to the eyes of Tommy Douglas. As for crime, Singapore must be one of the few countries in the world that has no — repeat, no — hard drug problem. Other crimes? Vandalism, robbery and rape are all "caneable" offences. There hasn't been a bank robbery in years. Perhaps that's why Singapore hasn't had to increase the size of its police force since 1967.

Meanwhile, Michael Fay hails from a country where John Wayne Gacy, who murdered 33 kids, was put to death by injection, 13 years after he was found guilty.

Thirteen years. That's more time than some of his victims had on the planet.

And here in Canada taxpayers still pick up the tab for a piece of human flotsam named Clifford Olsen, a serial child-killer who sits in a prison cell with a TV and a computer and a telephone on which he chats with anyone who will accept his calls.

So whose system is better — Singapore's or ours? Well, it's hard to deal in absolutes, but let me leave you with one.

I am absolutely sure that if Michael Fay ever goes on a vandalising binge again, it won't be in Singapore.

AMBULANCE BUILDING

Sidewalk superintendents will have a new project to oversee as construction has started on the building to fill the gap recently created between the Minden IDA and Apparition Fine Art. Building owner Paul Heffer has announced that the new structure will house a two bay ambulance garage and offices for the ambulance staff at the rear of the building, new retail space on the street side and offices on the second floor. An elevator is being installed to ensure the upper level is easily accessible. The two levels will include 9000 square feet of floor space.

GORDON A. MONK FUNERAL HOME

Another award for Minden Funeral Home owner Gordon Monk. He was honoured recently at the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the International Order of the Golden Rule, in Washington D.C. Gord was presented with the Special Recognition Award for provincial and state chairpersons. "Being chosen as recipient of the special recognition award is truly an honour. Professionals like Gordon Monk are the cornerstones upon which the Order of the Golden Rule is built," said Dale Rollings, the association's executive director.

HIGHLAND GARDENS PRODUCE

Tuesday will mark the grand opening of the newly expanded Highland Gardens Produce. The new addition has more than doubled the retail space of the store, with wide aisles and new pine display counters. Bill Barrell and his partner Bob said the expansion was necessary because of the growing demand from local consumers. The store is located next to the Beer Store in Haliburton.

STEDMAN'S/V&S DEPT. STORE

We welcome John and Robyn Thomas, the new owners of the Minden outlet of Stedman's/V&S. They took over operation of the popular department store from Vince and Rose Connaughan. Best of luck to both couples.

INGOLDSBY GENERAL STORE

Some changes are in the offing for the west end of Lake Kashagawigamog. Brian Watt has purchased the Ingoldsby General Store. He notes that after several intensive weeks of renovations, he hopes to open in time for the Canada Day holiday weekend.

HOME & COTTAGE VIDEO SECURITY

It isn't necessarily a new idea, but providing a professional service for those who don't have the equipment to do it, is part of what this new business is all about. Stan Brown is the proprietor of Highland Home & Cottage Video Security, the company which will video tape your home and cottage and its contents and provide the home owner with an inventory and a copy of the video tape. This information would be valuable in case of a break-in or fire loss.

GRAMMA'S BLANKET BOX

The clean up continues to spread through the town. The front facade of Nancy Adamson's shop, Gramma's Blanket Box, is now dazzlingly white, thanks to a freshly applied coat of paint.

Let me get this straight...

Editor,

Let me see if I understand this correctly. The government of Canada allows immigrants who become involved in illegal acts to go before a review board that will stop their immediate deportation. Refugees, on the other hand, who have been responsible and employed with no illegal acts are to be deported with no review.

The government of Ontario is spending 90 million or so to put our sad-looking mugs on a card to save 20 million or so in health fraud they do not know how to control.

Ontario Hydro, owned by the Ontario government, is spending millions buying properties in foreign countries to save rain forests to protect what in Canada?

The government of Canada is paying a salary plus expenses to the Quebec leader who wants no part of Canada and is promoting an independent Quebec with sovereignty association. "Independence" means just that - independence. "Sovereignty association" means everyone is still on the pay roll.

Evidently most politicians must think we Canadians just fell off the turnip truck.

Brassarama : a brilliant performance

Editor,

Anyone who missed the Brassarama at Archie Stouffer Elementary School missed a superb performance of very talented artists. The evening included our very own local talent, the Northland Brass, to the young gentlemen members of the Brass Quintessence of McGill University in Montreal, to a great group of grade eight students and last but not least the Highland Brass Quintet, a group of fine musicians.

It was a brilliant performance. The new auditorium with great acoustics was an excellent place to hold the great sound of brass which I have not heard in many years.

Mattsson tykes on a roll with 3 & 1 record

by Jerry Grozelle

A loss in their first baseball game of the season didn't slow the Mattsson's Minden Royals tykes down. They rebounded to put their next three games in the wins column.

The first loss was the Royals' home opener on May 22, to Fenelon Falls, by a score of 15-6.

A week later, back on the home diamond, the Minden boys edged Cameron 10-9.

The first decisive win was on June 1, when the Mattsson's crew went to Fenelon Falls and defeated the Fenelon #2 team 18-7.

Derek Barnett pitched a strong game for Minden and Ashleigh Pettes contributed to the win with a pair of RBIs and some outstanding fielding.

The Minden boys continued their winning ways on June 5. They played host to Omamee, downing the visitors by a 15-12 score.

Phillip Greer was the Minden hurler for that game. He was singled out by coach Derek Barnett Sr. as one of the outstanding players of the game. Two others who caught the coach's eye were Ben Carpenter, who drove in four runs and his son Derek Jr., who hit a double, driving in three runs.

The players on Coach Barnett's team get a chance to play different positions, giving them an opportunity to see what position suits them the best.

The Minden tykes were scheduled to play this past Friday in Omamee and again Sunday at home against Haliburton.

They have a game scheduled for tonight (Monday) in Coboconk at 6:30. The next home game will be Sunday, June 19 at noon against Bobcaygeon #3.

Bike-a-thon raises $1,500

The Sixth Annual Jason Loughheed Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon, held on June 5, raised about $1,500 for the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. The event was sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Minden.

An estimated 30 riders participated this year, riding from the Minden Fairgrounds to Camp Onondaga and back.

Trophies were awarded to the top junior and senior youngsters and the top adult rider, Rawn Brown, received a gift certificate for a bike helmet.

In the junior division, Julie Bittner was the top girl and Greg Harrison was the top boy.

Katrina Matysek was the senior girls winner and the senior boys trophy went to Rod Upton.

Stars shine at HHSS Athletic Banquet

by Jerry Grozelle

The athletic community of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School gathered at the Haliburton Legion on June 7 to honour the accomplishments of the school's athletes over the 1993-94 season. The occasion was the annual HHSS Athletic Banquet and Awards Presentations.

The stars of the football, soccer, track and field, volleyball, field hockey, badminton, archery, cross country, Nordic skiing, and hockey, got their chance to shine off the field, court, trail or ice, as their achievements were celebrated.

None shone brighter than the male and female athletes of the year. The selection of these two individuals focused not only on their outstanding achievements over the past year, but also on their unselfish determination, dedication, willingness to share their talents with their peers and a dozen other qualities that made these athletes stand out, even among the school's best.

Although the coaches who introduced both of these individuals saved the names to the last, there was little doubt shortly after the praise began who the recipient in each case would be.

Anna Tomlinson was the female athlete of the year and Jonathan Bishop was the male athlete of the year.

In addition to those two awards, one student was presented with the Award of Excellence for his outstanding contributions to the school's athletic program. Nico Haedicke was the recipient of that award.

Top honours: Jonathan Bishop and Anna Tomlinson show off their hardware after they were chosen as HHSS athletes of the year at the annual banquet and awards presentations.

Linda Szulga will represent Canada in smallbore prone event

Linda Szulga has realized a dream.

The Burnt River woman will be going to Victoria, British Columbia in August to compete in the Commonwealth Games.

A member of the Canadian National women's Shooting Team, she qualified by placing second in the smallbore prone position at the trials in St. Catharines on the Victoria Day weekend.

Is Szulga excited about representing Canada at the Commonwealth Games?

"There's no question about it. I'm thrilled to pieces," she said. "It's very exciting. They will be the first Commonwealth Games I've ever attended."

But Szulga is no stranger to international shooting competition. She competed in the World Cup at Fort Benning, Georgia, where she shot a 371 out of 400 in air rifle, just two shy of her personal best of 373. That personal best was set at the Crosman Cup in Ottawa in February, where she finished first in her class and fourth overall.

She has competed in other World Cup events in Mexico City and Los Angeles.

Her first national competition was in Granby, Quebec in 1988, where she won the ladies' championship.

Szulga has come a long way in the shooting world since her first match, at the Toronto Sportsmen's Association in 1986. She won her division at that event, although she'll admit she was the only competitor in her division. In spite of that, she says she got all kinds of encouragement from the people at the Toronto Sportsman's Association. From there, she advanced to the elite of the Canadian Women smallbore (.22 rimfire rifle) and air rifle shooters. She is one of only seven women on the Canadian team. Only those who place in the top four of each of the four events at the National Championships qualify to be members of the National Team. Some shooters qualified in more than one event, which explains why there are only seven.

Along the way, Szulga had more than her share of hurdles to overcome. During the World Cup in Mexico City she suffered a torn rotator cuff in her left shoulder, an extreme form of tendinitis that affects all of the tendons that attach the arm to the shoulder. The injury threatened her shooting career.

"For the first three or four months (after the injury) I couldn't even pick up a gun," she said.

But, after a few months, she was able to start shooting again and remain competitive.

After more than two years of therapy, she says the shoulder feels fine, although it didn't completely heal until early this year.

The shooting events for the Commonwealth Games will be held at Heals Range, about 15 kilometres north of Victoria. Szulga will get a chance to shoot at that range in July, when she will participate in the Nationals.

Although it will cost her about $2,500 to take part in the Nationals, she says it will be worth it, if for no other reason than to get a feel for the range in preparation for the Commonwealth Games.

All of the athletes who qualify for the Commonwealth Games are treated royally. In Szulga's case, all she has to take with her is her rifle and ammunition. Her will be provided.

The Games are held every four years. This travel, accommodation and even Games uniforms year will be the fourth time they've been held in Going west: Linda Szulga of Burnt River is "thrilled to pieces" at the prospect of competing in her first Commonwealth Games this summer in Victoria, B.C.

Canada. The first event of its kind was held in Hamilton in 1930. They were in Vancouver in 1954 and in Edmonton in 1978.

Only current and former Commonwealth countries compete in the Games. A total of 66 nations will be represented.

Organizers are expecting 300-million television viewers worldwide.

Prince Edward is expected to open the Games, along with Prime Minister Jean Chretien. The Queen traditionally presides over the closing ceremonies.

Besides shooting, Szulga has become very involved in coaching and administration in the shooting sports. She is the head coach of the Ontario Provincial Smallbore Rifle Team. She also coaches locally at the Peterborough Fish and Game Club.

One program she is really excited about being involved with is the Durham County Board of Education's High Performance Athletes program. She will be coaching Mike Melnichuk, Canada's number one junior in match rifle prone shooting.

In the High Performance Athletes Program, all of his training, shooting and coaching of other shooters will go toward a credit, similar to the Co-operative Education Program, where students get credits for time spent in a workplace environment.

"If Mike and I can do well, it may set an example for other school boards to follow," Szulga said.

When it comes to the general media's attitude toward shooters, Szulga says: "A lot of shooters really feel persecuted. We're not bad people."

She points out that there isn't the glamour associated with shooting sports that there is with most other world class sports.

"Prince Charles is a target shooter," Szulga said. "And his best friend will be competing in Victoria."

In spite of the negative media attention and the anti-gun movement, Szulga remains optimistic about the future of recreational shooting in Canada. She spent some time at the Crosman booth at the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto this year. The air rifle and air pistol manufacturer set up a range at the show and more than 12,000 participants tried their luck at shooting targets.

"There was never a negative word," Szulga said. "Everybody had a positive attitude."

HHSS coaches pleased with OFSAA track results

HHSS track and field coach Walter Tose said he spoke for co-coaches Paul Morissette and Tim Davies when he summed up the season.

"We're really pleased with the whole season," he said. "It has been one of our best showings."

"There were four Canadian inter-scholastic records and several other OFSAA records set."

He added that he is sure that we'll see some of the athletes that competed at this year's OFSAA track and field meet in the Olympics.

Tose agreed that any athlete who makes it to OFSAA has reason to be proud.

The senior boys relay team of Andy Bacon, Chris Greenfield, Jay Hughes and Peter VanLeeuwen placed fourth in the 4X100, beating Westview, one of the favourites. Tose qualified that statement by saying that Westview dropped the baton. That fourth place finish in their heat was a personal best for the four runners.

Enders Weber had a strong finish in the senior boys pole vault, placing sixth.

Chris Greenfield was sixth in the senior boys 100 and 200 metre events.

Travis Willison finished in the middle of the pack in the junior boys pole vault.

Mike Bradley was eighth in the midget boys pole vault equaling a personal best. He was also sixth in both the 100 metre and 200 metre events.

Jess Wallace placed eighth in the midget girls discus.

The OFSAA track and field championships were held in Kitchener on June 3, 4 and 5.

Cheesman hits 2 homers

Grand slam and 2-run shot

Two home runs by Matthew Cheesman led the Minden Handyman bantam A Royals baseball team to an 8-3 win over Lindsay on June 5 in Minden.

Cheesman started the game off right for the Royals with a two-run shot in the first frame and helped salt the game away with a grand slam in the fourth.

Minden scored three runs in the first inning and added the maximum of five in the fourth.

Lindsay scored one run in the first, third and sixth.

Jamie Henderson helped the Handyman cause, hitting a single and scoring twice himself.

Steve Ecclestone and Corey Casey each singled and scored one run while Chris Neilson, Ryan Anderson and Sheamus Donnery crossed the plate with one run apiece.

Dwight Bryant also singled.

Anderson pitched the first four innings of the six-inning game. He struck out five opposing batters and allowed just two runs. Neilson took over for the last two frames, picking up two strikeouts and keeping Lindsay to a single run.

Peewee B Royals defeat Cameron twice

by Jerry Grozelle

Two more wins were added to the Minden Regal Capital Group peewee B Royals' list of accomplishments last week. Both of those wins were at the expense of the Cameron team.

The Royals played host to Cameron on June 5 winning that one 19-13.

By the time the seventh inning rolled around, Cameron had no chance of catching up. The league has a rule that no more than five runs can be counted in any inning. The score was 19-10 going into the seventh but the visitors' half was played anyway.

Minden coach Larry McKnight said he wanted to try out the pitching arm of another potential moundsman, while giving the opposition a chance to close the score.

"The kids are playing really good ball," McKnight said. "Every time they (the opposition) started a bit of a rally, we cut them off."

The game marked a first for the season for the RCG peewees. Darren Gilbert hit the team's first home run, a two-run shot in the second inning.

Jordan Osinchuck led Minden in runs scored with four. Aiden McKnight, Gilbert, Shawn Casey and Jarrett Aggett added three runs each to the Minden tally while Adam Payne contributed a pair of runs.

McKnight credited much of the team's success to a "good, solid defense."

Four players exercised their pitching arms for Minden over the course of the game. Jonathan Stinson pitched the first two frames. Adam Bain took over for the third.

Aggett was on the mound for the fourth, fifth and sixth. He was the outstanding pitcher of the game, hurling two scoreless innings and amassing six strikeouts (two in each inning). Gary Kernohan was the fourth Minden pitcher. He gave up just three runs.

One of the highlights of the game in Cameron last Thursday evening was what McKnight called a "phenomenal diving catch" by right fielder Darren Gilbert in the third inning. The bases were loaded, with two out at the time and Gilbert's catch saved the Royals the possibility of some serious damage.

The final score of that game was Minden 15, Cameron 8.

Both teams scored several runs over the course of the third and fourth innings. As the Cameron field lies, the sun was setting over first base during that time, making it almost impossible to make an accurate throw to first.

"It caused a comedy of errors," coach McKnight said.

Jonathan Swinson got the game off on the right foot for the Royals. The starting pitcher faced four batters in the first inning, striking three of them out. He gave up two runs in the second. Adam Bain took over on the mound in the third and although he pitched well, he was a victim of the sunset as Cameron scored five runs. Aggett had one run scored on him over the fourth and fifth frames. He fanned two Cameron batters in each of those innings.

"He has good control," McKnight said.

Swinson hit a stand-up double and racked up three runs contributing to the Minden offense.

Gilbert, who has been nicknamed "the Big Hurt" because of his power hitting, lashed a couple of balls to the fence, driving in some timely runs. He also scored two himself.

The Royals have three good power hitters. Besides Gilbert, there are Adam Payne and Shawn Martin. Coach

McKnight depends on them as clean-up hitters and RBI producers.

Aiden McKnight and Andrew Graham added two runs each to the visitors' side of the scoreboard.

Another force the opposition's defensive players have to deal with when they tangle with the Minden boys is the strong base-running of Aiden McKnight and Jonathan Swinson. Both boys have racked up 18 stolen bases so far.

The RCG peewee B squad was slated to play its usual home game Sunday (past), against Ops. The Royals will travel to Coboconk for a game this Friday evening. Starting time in Coby is 6:30. Their next home game is at 2 p.m. Sunday against Bobcaygeon.

Boat and motor lost in blaze

Fireman Don Stromberg, assisted by Myles Gartshore, pours water into the charred hull of a speed boat destroyed by flames two weeks ago. The Minden department was called to the Nado Zorko cottage on Mistivale Trail, Sunday May 29, to extinguish a blaze which had started in a 19 foot Excalibur boat. It was being stored, on a trailer, under a second floor deck, when the blaze broke out. Residents and neighbours were able to roll the boat away from the house, but not before the flames had scorched the underside of the deck. The owners said the boat and the 235 horsepower motor were a complete write-off

ELM builds outdoor experience for students

Outdoor education may not be a new concept, but it is one that has recently been embraced by an enthusiastic group of students from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

The group of about 30 students, together with teacher Dave Mowat, devised a one-day outdoor education course for Grade 3 and 4 pupils.

Mowat said that the children from the Gooderham school were chosen for the pilot project because they may be more familiar with the outdoors.

"Some of their parents are trappers," Mowat said. "They would be hard to fool."

Since the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association helped to fund the pilot project, Mowat and four HHSS students involved with ELM attended the Association's Directors' meeting in West Guilford last week to outline what they have done. The project was titled Day of ELM, which stands for Energy, Lifestyle and Matter.

Mowat explained that the Highlands offers the perfect setting for a course designed to enlighten youngsters about their interaction with the environment.

The Haliburton County Board of Education owns 80 acres of land at the high school. The topography of the property lends itself well to what the students had in mind, with hardwoods, low land and a stream.

The ambitious project involved about 30 high school students, representing almost all departments of the school.

In preparation for the Day of ELM, the high school students went to the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve, where they learned from Dave Bishop, the concept of multiple use of the land and resources. They were also coached on the principle of trust and teamwork, so they could instill a sense of confidence in the youngsters who would participate in the day's activities.

A half-day was spent at the school in Gooderham getting to know the youngsters and giving them a chance to form a bond with the leaders.

The students built a trail on the Board of Education property and set up five stations along the way. Before the stations were set up, a script had to be written that would get the intended message across. The message was that we are all a part of nature. Students from the drama department were recruited to play various roles, acting out the scenarios of the five stations.

When they were devising the subject matter for the activities, the students were careful to avoid any negativity regarding the human race's impact on the environment. Instead, they focused on what can be done to undo the damage of the past and avoid the same mistakes in the future.

When the Day of ELM arrived (May 4), the stage was set and the actors were ready. The youngsters spent the day going from station to station, learning the relationships between plants, insects, animals and the environment. They acted the part of spiders, snakes, caterpillars and other creatures. They learned to identify different types of trees. They learned about recycling; they were taught teamwork; they even put on snowshoes to walk across a swampy area.

"They (the pupils from Gooderham) love hands-on learning," said

Tanya Berry.

The project provided an education for both the high school students and the elementary school children.

"They will never forget it and I know we'll never forget it," Berry said.

The group planted some trees to cap the day's activities.

The project was as much a test for the high school students as it was an education for the youngsters.

The presentation to the HHOA directors, which lasted more than an hour, included a slide show as well as an explanation of the project from concept stage to completion.

The pilot project proved so successful that Mowat plans a repeat next year, possibly expanding to three days with three different classes of youngsters.

On the down side, Mowat said that he will be losing most of the participants from this year because they will be graduating.

HHOA president Ted Vasey offered the Association's support in the future.

In discussions during the directors' regular meeting, it was agreed that the Association's money was well spent.

People Who Make a Difference

Many know him as Stanhope's former Deputy-Reeve, but there's much more to Elvin Johnson than municipal service.

by Kelly Pettinger

Need to know some history about the Stanhope township area? Then Elvin Johnson is the man to talk to. He remembers when Bell Canada took over the local telephone service, when Camp Calumet opened some 60 years ago, and he even remembers when a park that today bears his name, was nothing more than a piece of rough shoreline.

Born and raised in the Hall's Lake area, Elvin attended school at SS#3 in Boshkung, (the school has since been converted into a house). He graduated from grade 8, and went on to work in what he calls, "a man's world". It wasn't as difficult finding employment back when he was a young man, and he found work doing "anything there was to do."

Elvin worked on a farm for a number of years, living with cousins after his mother died. He was employed as a travelling salesman for 18 years, selling commercial kitchen supplies. "I sold dishwashers, food mixers, potato peelers, store scales, and just about everything you could think of for a commercial kitchen," he said.

He remained unmarried until he was 28. In 1942 he met his soon-to-be wife, Ruby, at a girls' camp in Carnarvon.

"We had friends who owned a summer lodge," Elvin recalled. "Part of the summer it operated as a youth camp, and my cousin and I were usually invited to visit when it was boys' camp. One week we were invited up, but we weren't told that this was the week for the girls' camp. We arrived and the owners persuaded us to stay, which didn't take very much effort," he said with a smile.

When asked if it was love at first sight, Elvin replied, "More or less."

Since their wedding June 17, 1944, the Johnsons have lived in the same house on Boshkung Lake Road. Years ago they had a full working farm, raised three boys, David, Ray, and Ralph and saw them all married. Elvin and Ruby are now happily retired with six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Working a Highlands farm was tough. Despite the long, tiring hours, Elvin also found time to look after the buildings and maintenance chores at Camp Calumet on Boshkung Lake, located near his farm. He was employed at the camp for 26 years. The camp is now closed and the property up for sale, but he still visits the property to make sure everything is okay.

He has many fond memories of his association with Calumet.

"We always had a good camp. When I was working, there were about 240 children between the ages of 6 and 16 attending. The staff included junior counsellors aged 16 to 18 and a number of senior counsellors. Camp Calumet was in operation for over 60 years. It's too bad to see something like that close up," said Elvin.

It must be difficult to see a youth facility in which he invested so much of his life remain closed, however there is another recreational facility to which he can now turn his attention.

The municipal park, located on Hall's Lake, was named in his honour six years ago when he retired from council. It was known locally Hall's Lake swim park, but there wasn't a formal name. It was just a piece of crown land

Enjoying Life: Elvin and Ruby Johnson sit back and relax on their front porch and reminisce about the good and bad times during the 50 years they have been together that the Ministry of Natural Resources wanted developed.

"It was a perfect location for a swim park. It had a beautiful beach. I was on council then, and it was my job to design and build the park. The area was levelled and sand was added where needed. The development of the park continued into a second year with the addition of two playgrounds, washroom facilities, change rooms, picnic tables, benches and a covered picnic shelter. It is a beautiful place for a picnic," said Elvin.

Not only is it a great place for family picnics, the recreation committee's swimming classes make use of the facilities each year.

In addition to his services as a member of Stanhope Municipal Council, Elvin has been an active participant in a number of other organizations. He is a member of the Bible Church in Minden, and served as a trustee on the school board. Elvin was also a commissioner on the board of directors for the Stanhope telephone system almost 40 years ago.

"When telephone service was first put in, each municipality paid for the installation. For many years the local exchange operated as the Stanhope Municipal Telephone System. Each municipality had its own system and, after a number of years, they were amalgamated as the Haliburton County Telephone System. Several years later, Bell Canada purchased the entire network," said Elvin.

He served on the Stanhope Township council as a Councillor for 13 years and as Deputy-Reeve for three years. He retired from municipal politics six years ago, but he still remains involved, working with the Board of Management

"The board has jurisdiction over a lot of the activities in the municipality, like the community centre, overseeing the recreation committee and other things like that," said Elvin.

His involvement in municipal administration has been reduced to a part-time basis. Like many county residents, he and Ruby spend the winter months in Florida. Two winters ago he took an interest in art and discovered a talent for landscapes. "I get a lot of pleasure out of painting. It sure kept me occupied last winter. Requests from family members keep me busy. The children all have one or two paintings."

The Johnsons will be celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary later this month. The occasion has prompted many phone calls and visits from friends and relatives. "We're hearing from people we haven't seen in years," laughed Ruby.

The joyous occasion is also a time for reflection. Both Elvin and Ruby are proud to say that these have been the best 50 years of their lives.

Ruby proclaims life has been wonderful "The Lord has looked after us. We have had our ups and downs, but then, so has everybody."

"Couldn't have been much better," Elvin agrees, smiling.

Long time service: The local chapter of the Loyal Orange Lodge recently honoured two long time members for their dedicated service. George Hewitt, right, was presented with his 50-year pin following a dinner at the United Church in Minden on June 6. Dick Kirkwood, centre received a plaque commemorating his 65th year in the Lodge. The awards were presented by Lodge secretary Loyne Cox, left.

Hard top is a heart stop whenever spring arrives

Geoff Robinson attended the Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting Thursday evening to offer some "layman's constructive criticism."

Robinson is a resident of the Blairhampton area and his concern is with the hardtop road between Highways 35 and 12.

"Every spring they break up into severe potholes of up to three feet in diameter and six inches deep," he told council.

He says that he recently read in the newspaper that the municipality was planning to put the same type of surface on two other roads. Given the fact that the Blairhampton Road breaks up in the same places each year, he suggested that there must be something wrong with the basic structure of the road. He also wondered if it would be wise to use the same materials to surface the Duck Lake and Reynolds Roads, speculating that the same problems may plague those roads each year.

Robinson questioned whether the municipality might be better off fixing the roads that need repairs before resurfacing two more.

Reeve Bern Berry agreed that Robinson's evaluation of the road conditions were accurate and that the road surface hasn't stood up to the traffic as well as was expected.

Robinson's home is on a gravel road, but he uses the hardtop portion to get to and from his the village.

"I have no problem with the gravel roads," he said.

The Roads Committee has a meeting scheduled for June 20 and the matter will be discussed then. In the meantime, council promised to have some expert evaluation of the situation and they promised to give Robinson's comments serious consideration.

Piano performance appreciated by residents

by Winnifred Barnum

On Saturday, June 4, Linda Buckman came from Haliburton to play the piano for us. It was beautiful and we enjoyed it very much and we would like to thank her sincerely.

On Sunday, Estella Burch came and read from our book. Thank you Estella, it passes the time. Reverend John Burgess came in and took chapel service and Ruth Worthington played the organ. We thank them very much.

On Monday, Linda and Doris took Judy Stevenson to Peterborough for a check up at the doctor's office. In the afternoon the auxiliary held their monthly meeting in the auditorium. It was well attended and they planned future events.

Pastor Fast held the chapel service on Tuesday morning. He accompanied himself with the guitar as he sang the hymns. Thank you Pastor Fast.

In the afternoon we had a tremendous thunder storm. My son Terry and I went to Peterborough. In the evening Pearl Cowan came and helped with a couple of tables of euchre, we thank her. Also that afternoon, the residents did crafts. They made decorations for

Hyland Crest residents enjoy Friday afternoon performance

Father's Day. Volunteers were Bonnie Fullan, Dottie Muirhead and Donna Wallace.

Wednesday the van came with the wearing apparel and set up in the auditorium. Many of the residents made purchases.

Thursday morning we had fitness and some residents had their hair done. In the afternoon we had a tea party. The ladies from the Pentecostal church in West Guilford provided a delicious lunch and a program of singing and piano music. It was a lovely afternoon. I had my niece visiting and she attended with me. Later Isabel Keefer gave me a ride to Haliburton and I had supper with Terry and Norma. Terry took us to the West Guilford Baptist church in the evening and then brought me home.

Thursday evening, Tom and Dorie McAllister came to call bingo for those who wished to play. Thank you Tom and Dorie for coming, we are glad to have you back again. They are taking Kathy Woods' place as she has left for the summer.

Friday afternoon we had happy hour. Mike and Connie Biagi and Frank Faulkner provided entertainment. Connie played the guitar, Mike played the mouth organ and Frank played the violin and saxophone. We all enjoyed their music. It makes everyone want to get up and dance. Thanks to the trio.

Ellen and Don Holden, Mary Guillemine, Bonnie Fullan and Dottie Muirhead volunteered. Residents and friends thank everyone who helped us.

Don't forget the annual Strawberry tea and bazaar June 30. See you there.

Crooks beware:

Those with criminal intent can forget about plying their trades in the Stanhope-Carnarvon area. The Community Policing Association has initiated a Merchant Alert program which will alert merchants to any costly scams being perpetrated in the district. The telephone fan-out system is designed to advise all registered merchants, within a matter of minutes, of any fraudulent activity being carried out in connection with credit cards, cheques, or counterfeit bills.

In relation to counterfeit bills, all registered merchants have already been advised that there are presently counterfeit twenty-dollar bills being circulated in the area, and they have been told how to identify them.

Any merchants within the Stanhope-Carnarvon Community Policing Association's jurisdiction who wish to register for this program should call the chairperson, Mrs. Lynda Burley, at 754-2297.

Neighbourhood Watch is being reactivated in the area, and for this purpose, an open meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 14 at the Stanhope-Carnarvon Fire fighters Hall at 7:30 p.m. Constable Mike Landry will be present at this meeting to help us get organized.

Although this program

Heavy rains fill TSW

On Thursday, May 26, rainfall was again heavy enough to raise the Kawartha water levels and navigation was suspended from Fenelon Falls to Trenton. A large increase in flow was made to discharge the surplus, then cutbacks were made by June 3 to re-open navigation.

In Haliburton, the rainfall was less significant, but did keep the lakes rising with the average levels reaching 94.9 per cent, very close to normal for the time of year.

Some lakes had not yet filled despite having retained all the runoff.

Stanhope is no place for shady business was set up in the Township of Stanhope a few years ago, for various reasons it fell by the wayside. At a meeting last fall, it was suggested that the program be reviewed again, and that perhaps, with new personnel, it could be reorganized. All local residents and cottagers are encouraged to attend this meeting.

The officers in our local OPP detachment appreciate any help they can receive from the public with regard to criminal activity, and the Neighbourhood Watch program provides a way for each and every citizen to get involved in combatting crime right at the grass-roots level.

The Stanhope-Carnarvon Community Policing Association also plans to be present at the Stanhope Fun Day on July 23 with a bicycle safety program and a child identification clinic. They will be looking for help in this venture. If you could donate a few hours to the Association on July 23, please call Lynda Burley.

The members of the Community Policing Associations in Haliburton County are excited to be able to be part of the solution to the problems within our communities.

Come and find out how you can help fight crime and make your community a better place to live and work.

Vounteer efforts make Somerville tick

by John Huke
Reeve of Somerville Township

A few weeks ago I attended a meeting of the Kinmount Neighbourhood Watch and Community Policing Committee. It was the night of a Toronto Maple Leaf and Sharks play-off game, but the meeting was well attended by residents who obviously were most enthusiastic with the results of the program. Along with the old Somerville Municipal Office being turned into a "store front police station", Neighbourhood Watch has created a situation of very little crime to report. The co-operation of the Ontario Provincial Police (four members present) has been excellent. The local leadership of Ted Wilkes "spearheading" the group is a great example of the many opportunities being taken advantage of in Somerville Township.

In Kinmount we have the Civic Action Committee leading the way with a recent "clean-up" day and also asking council to implement some form of "property standards" or "maintenance and occupancy" by-law. This by-law requires much in the way of research, preparation and public input prior to any implementation. In the meantime we can all speak out to those who really do not have a sense of community spirit in keeping their residence and place of business in a tidy manner. We are a tourist area and our immediate visual impression to the visitors is most important in having them return.

The Kinmount Lions Club is helping sponsor a group building a model "HO Railroad" to scale, of the old rail line from Kinmount to Haliburton. They are attempting to have the line completed from Kinmount to Gelert by the time the Kinmount Fair is buzzing, with the model set up in the Pioneer Tent. The newly formed Kinmount Planning and Development Committee is also working towards a theme park at the Kinmount railroad station, including the old mill.

The Committee for low cost housing in Kinmount is also working to complete all the required paper work before the Provincial government runs out of funding.

The Coboconk Planning and Development Committee has just completed the new docks in Coby and is assisting the Coboconk Horticultural Society with the dock planters. The group is also attempting to clean up the area of the waterfalls as you enter Coboconk from the south on Highway 35. The school children recently had a clean up day at the falls site and are to be complimented on the work accomplished and on their enthusiasm.

Working with the Horticultural Society, Planning and Development Committee and Township, we are attempting to beautify the entrance to Coboconk. The people in Burnt River have been busy with clean up days and, like Kinmount, have "walks" arranged for various causes within their communities.

The Burnt River Fire Department Building Committee is also busy working with the Council to come up with a plan for the new fire hall.

The Burnt River Bullies ball team is also working now to organize its annual Burnt River Bullies Ball Tournament.

The annual pig roast in Burnt River takes place on Saturday, May 29.

Groups such as these and others not mentioned make the job of being the Township Reeve much more enjoyable. Our main objective this term of office has been to listen to what the taxpayer wants and needs, and working together to attempt to create ways and means of obtaining success.

VON annual meeting slated for tonight

The Victorian Order of Nurses, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton Branch will hold its 53rd annual meeting on Thursday, June 16 at the Admiral Inn in Lindsay, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

This is the first time the meeting has been held outside Peterborough.

The location of the meeting is especially appropriate this year, as 1994 marks the twentieth anniversary of the opening of the Branch's offices in Victoria and Haliburton Counties.

Highlights of the meeting will include presentation of service awards and certificates for completion of Quality Management Frontline Leadership Training.

Since the inception of this program, almost 40 staff members have successfully completed the training and others are currently taking it. This represents a significant proportion of the branch staff.

Keynote address at the annual meeting will be given by Bonnie Davidson. Bonnie is well-known as a clinical nurse specialist and consultant in gerontology and has recently joined the staff of the Branch as Director of Planning/Long Term Care Services.

The Victorian Order of Nurses, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton branch extends an invitation to the public to attend this meeting.

Help Select New Children's Services Board

A public meeting is scheduled for June 27, 7:30 p.m., at the PineStone Inn, to elect 12 members to the new Haliburton Amalgamated Children's Services Board.

The Board will be responsible for creating a new, Haliburton County based, model of delivery of children's services and for developing a new corporation. The new agency will bring programs together that are currently with SIRCH, Children's Aid Society, Kinark and the Social Action Committee.

All residents of Haliburton County, 16 years of age and up, are eligible to elect the new Board and are urged to come out and support this important project for our community. A report on the history of this initiative will be made and perspectives of various community leaders will be shared.

The final deadline for candidates interested in serving on the Board is June 16. For more information, please call the Haliburton Social Action Committee at 457-1888.

Medical breakthrough contains an inspiring human story

There is an intimate relationship between the quality of our surroundings and human health and it is easily seen with the parasitic disease of malaria.

In the early '60's, when malaria was aggressively pursued with treatment and mosquito control, 10 per cent of the world's population was at risk. However, with resistance of mosquitos to insecticides and malarial parasites to drugs, the disease is now a threat to almost half the world's population.

An inspiring story emerges from the story of this modern plague.

Each year there are up to 300 million cases, two-thirds of which are newly infected. Ninety per cent are found in the ecologically devastated regions of sub-Saharan Africa. Some 3.5 million people die of malaria annually and 1.5 million are African children under the age of five. Latin America has over three million cases, half of them in Brazil.

In 1970, Brazil began construction of the Trans-Amazon Highway, thereby opening the forest to poor farmers, ranchers and gold miners. Malarial cases erupted more than 20-fold and 98 per cent of them are in the Amazon. Far more Brazilians die of malaria each year than from AIDS and cholera combined.

The life cycle of malaria offers hints to where it might be attacked. When an Anopheles mosquito sucks blood from a person infected with malaria, the parasites are stimulated in the insect's gut to mate and lay eggs in the gut wall. From the eggs, larvae or "sporozoites" hatch and are injected back into a person when the mosquito has another blood meal.

Once in the bloodstream, the sporozoites head for the liver where they invade cells and multiply while changing into a new form called a "merozoites." The liver cells then break open and release merozoites, which then infect blood cells, multiply further, kill cells and infect still more.

Most victims of malaria are among the poorest people in the world, so pharmaceutical companies have little incentive to seek cures or vaccines. Research in U.S. and British labs has been motivated primarily by protection of soldiers stationed in tropical countries.

Traditionally, scientists have tried to develop vaccines using proteins of the infecting sporozoites to stimulate antibodies.

Their lack of success prompted Colombian chemist Manuel Patarroyo to take a radically different approach: he focused on the merozoite stage and rather than purifying parts of the malarial parasite to induce immunity, he chemically synthesized pieces of parasite protein he suspected were used to hook onto and penetrate cells.

And then instead of injecting different pieces one at a time, he attached four together (three from the merozoite and one from the sporozoite) and tested their combined ability to stimulate antibodies to stop malarial invaders. And it worked!

Patarroyo's success, where many have failed, is a tribute to his brilliance, originality and diligence. The fact that he achieved it in a developing country, is all the more extraordinary.

Yet, being in a scientific backwater may also have been a blessing. Patarroyo could afford to take bold risks where his colleagues in highly competitive and results-driven environments might not.

Part of his animal research was carried out in the Amazon at one-twentieth of the cost for comparable work in the U.S. Using skilled technicians on Colombian wages, he could synthesise volumes of pure proteins much less expensively than in a rich country. The cost for three shots of the vaccine per individual is about 30 cents!

Patarroyo encountered initial scepticism and criticism, some of it valid, some motivated by jealousy, resentment and disbelief. But once his experimental test procedures and chemical purity were assured and the vaccine was shown to be effective, the accolades rolled in.

He told me one major multinational drug company offered him $68 million and a commission on all sales for the rights to his patent! Patarroyo turned it down because he doesn't believe profit should come from suffering and poverty.

With total support of his family, research colleagues and the president of Colombia, Patarroyo gave the rights to the patent on his vaccine to the World Health Organization.

He imposed a stipulation: the vaccine must be manufactured in a developing country and if Colombia can do it the cheapest, the facilities will be located there. This astonishing and rare humanitarian act by a scientist is an inspiration for all people.

It is fitting that Manuel Patarroyo has just received the prestigious Prince of Asturias Prize from Spain of $38,000 and an original Miro painting. All of humankind salutes him.

D-Day

*We watched with awe the scenery
Then parades and speeches, no end
But all must have some memory
Of people gone around the bend.
The glory of fifty years ago
Was seen throughout the world
At this late date we wonder so
How beaches won and men so bold
To storm the cliffs or be shot down.
Such loss of life of ones so young
We who are older mourn those gone
Are the youth of today able to go on?

Minden Public Library has been especially busy this year as students grades 2-6 visited the branch Tuesday through Friday. About 20 at a time visited and the staff helped the students find books to help with projects over the school term.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Helen Johnson, Reg Welch, Edna Smith and J. Mortin who all passed away last week.

John and Jean Bierma of Richmond Hill visited recently with Audrey and Bob Vick.

Ross and Kit Schroter visited their family, Mr and Mrs Murray Joynt, in Parry Sound.

Congratulations to Chic and Marian Minaker on the arrival of a new grandson, Jordan Minaker of Port Perry and a new granddaughter Amanda Snider of Stouffville. The new grandparents visited both places to see the latest additions to their family.

Mrs. Edna Esler of Peterborough visited with her sisters Mae Hicks and Myrtle Walker recently.

Julie and Meighan Woolfrey of Bridgenorth visited last week with Audrey and Bob Vick.

Gladys Reid visited her daughter Patricia in Toronto last weekend.

We heard that Bryan and Brandon Hulbig were baptised at Minden United Church on May 29. Their parents are David and Shirley Hulbig and they are brothers of Andrea.

Mr and Mrs Roger Hicks, Holly and Emily visited relatives in Lochlin recently and took in the Home Show in Haliburton.

Club 35 euchre results from June 6 include most lone hands Bob Lewis, high lady and man Jeanne Penick and Jim Bradbury while others were Lynn Frechette, Bill Durkin and Bob Lewis. The 50-50 drawn was won by Milt Fletcher and special awards went to Jeanne Penick, Betty Harper, Lynn Frechette, Garth Windsor, Bill Durkin and Cliff Woolner. Next Wheels to Meals dinner is June 21 at 12 noon.

Residents of The Terrace recently enjoyed their catered meal served by Ray Downs which was followed by great music by Al and Frank along with a singsong.

St. Paul's Anglican Church euchre game winners for June 6 included Iris Taylor with most lone hands, Jack Chilton, Marg McAfee and Hazel Austin. The draw went to Nancy Gayton.

Stanhope Bridge game winners for Tuesday June 7 included Jack Croucher, Earl Hayne and Cathy Whelan. Everyone is welcome to attend these weekly bridge games at 1 p.m. and no partner is required.

Senior Games are happening in our county and the Shuffleboard games were held June 8 at the Minden Courts. Winners of the gold were Joan Mackenzie and Elinor Smith, silver went to Marian Ingram and Bill Milford and bronze winners were Forothy and Maurice Boyd. Congratulations to all of them. The intergames will take place at the Minden courts later in the summer so hopefully, some of our locals will go on to Sudbury.

"Learn to play bid euchre" says Lottie Ruttan. She will teach anyone willing to learn in time for the Big Buck Bid euchre competition at Stanhope Centre on August 17. If you are interested, call Lottie at 754-2770.

Minden Agricultural Society will meet on Thursday, June 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds. Anyone wishing to offer help or suggestions for the 1994 Haliburton County Fair is welcome to attend.

Members of Minden Museum Committee - please try to attend the meeting at the Bowron Homestead on Wednesday, June 22 at 10 a.m.

Winners at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 636 Minden euchre games on June 9 included Kate Cline and Murray Mackinnon for most lone hands, Helen Byne and Orval Francis with the highs and Marg Bibby, Jack Chilton, Stan Cline, Ellen Holden, Roy Farrugia, Norm Lee and Don Nye.

CARDS OF THANKS

Thank you to everyone who purchased sweatshirts, T-shirts, caps etc., and "Helped Make a Miracle Happen" during our Hospital for Sick Children Fund raising drive.
Campbell's Garden Centre, Minden.

The Minden Agricultural Society would like to sincerely thank all the volunteers who helped to make our annual beef barbecue dinner and dance a success. Thank you to all of the ladies who donated desserts, to the arena staff and to Joan and Bill Moore and Shirley and Ron Cox who donated the spot prizes for our dance. Special thanks to all the people who supported our event by attending.

AT REST

SMITH,

EDNA EMMA (Nee READ)
Peacefully, in her sleep in the loving care of Haliburton Extensivecare Nursing Home on Monday, June 6, 1994 in her 86th year.

Beloved wife of the late Fred Smith, dear mother of Ann and her husband Don Barker. Loving grandmother of Stephen and his wife Barbara of Soyer's Lake, David of Stanhope, Leeanna and Rob of Bradford and great grandmother of Curtis, Gavin and William. Dear sister of Doris, Joan, Gladys (Ann) and predeceased by Albert and John. Fondly remembered by her nieces, nephews and friends. Mrs Smith rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, 127 Main Street, Minden on Wednesday. The funeral service was held in the chapel on Thursday, June 9 at 1:30 p.m. Interment St. Peter's Cemetery, Maple Lake. Memorial donations to the Extensivecare Nursing Home, Haliburton would be appreciated.

WELCH,

REGINALD WALTER

Peacefully at the Haliburton Hospital on Monday, June 6, 1994 in his 71st year. Beloved husband of Muriel (Boice) Welch of Minden, dear father of Mary and her husband Brian Hamilton of Minden, John and his wife Elli Welch of Stirling. Cherished grandfather of Matthew, Michael and Mark Hamilton and Rebecca Welch. Dear brother of Pat Campbell and Illa Cooper both of Minden. Mr Welch rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, 127 Main Street, Minden on Thursday then to St. Paul's Anglican Church, Minden for funeral service on Friday, June 10 at 1 p.m. Cremation to follow. Memorial donations to the charity of your choice would be appreciated.

IN MEMORIAM

HORSLEY, Garth - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away June 12, 1991.

Things we feel most deeply Are the hardest things to say, Dearest one, we loved you In a very special way, If we could have one lifetime wish

One dream that could come true, We'd pray to God with all our hearts,

For yesterday and you.

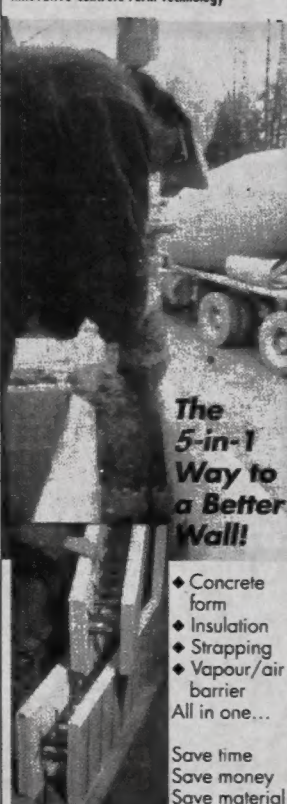

Always remembered and sadly missed by wife Shirley, children Judy, Jay, Dawn, Michele, Susan, their spouses and grandchildren.

ARCHER, Nelson - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away June 15, 1990.

They say that memories are golden, Well, maybe that is true, But we never wanted memories,

We only wanted you.

Lovingly remembered by wife Nellie and family.
